Lest we forget

We honour the men and women who sacrificed their lives to serve and protect Canada.

A Remembrance Day ceremony will be held on Tue, Nov 11 at City Hall for those wishing to reflect and commemorate with the community in person. The parade begins at 10:20am, followed by official ceremonies at 10:40am at the cenotaph.

After the ceremony, you can cross the commemorative crosswalk at No. 3 Road and Anderson Road, which honours local Veterans and their contributions to Canada. The crosswalk stands as a visible and permanent symbol of remembrance, created through community consultation and collaboration.

For those unable to attend in person, Richmond's Remembrance Day service will also be available online, ensuring everyone has the opportunity to honour and remember.

Saluting Richmond's champions

City Council celebrated the achievements of two world-class Richmond athletes - Camryn Rogers and Evan Dunfee. Both recently competed in the World Athletics Championship in Tokyo, with Camryn bringing home the gold in the women's hammer throw and Evan getting the gold in the men's 35km race walk. Congratulations Camryn and Evan - what an achievement!

It can happen just like that

As daylight hours decrease, Richmond RCMP has partnered with us and ICBC for a pedestrian safety campaign aimed at driver awareness: urging drivers to slow down and stay focused, particularly at intersections and crosswalks. The campaign, titled "It Can Happen Just Like That," aligns with province-wide pedestrian safety and enforcement efforts.

The Maple Road Experience

The Richmond Museum is rolling out a slice of Canadian skateboarding history with its newest exhibition, The Maple Road Experience. Co-curated with Kolby Harris, the exhibit celebrates world champion freestyle skateboarder Kevin Harris and the extraordinary story of how a backyard half pipe on Maple Road in Richmond became the birthplace of a skateboarding community.
